HOUSE OF RECOVERY.

THE eſtabliſhment of HOUSES of RECOVERY, or FEVER HOSPITALS, has been found by experience to be the only effectual method for checking the progreſs of Contagion among the poorer claſſes.

The Inſtitution embraces two objects. 1ſt. The immediate removal of the diſeaſed perſon from his own dwelling place. 2d. The adoption of meaſures for counteracting the progreſs of infection in the habitations of the Poor.—The want of ſuch an Eſtabliſhment has been no where more ſeverely felt than in the City of Dublin, particularly in that quarter which compriſes the Liberties, for the relief of which the Inſtitution was originally deſigned; but it now comprizes the whole diſtrict of the City on the ſouth ſide of the river Liffey, and within the Circular Road.—A Subſcription was opened in Oct. 1801, for building a Houſe for the purpoſe, the firſt ſtone was laid by his Excellency Earl Hardwicke, 24th April 1802, and the Hoſpital was opened on the 14th of May, 1804; ſince which Day to October, 1806, 2472 Patients have been admitted, of whom 2233 have been diſcharged cured, 180 have died, and 59 are now in the Houſe. No Recommendation is neceſſary for Admiſſion but Poverty and Fever, properly aſcertained by the report of one of the Phyſicians, who viſits the Patient immediately after the Application is left at the Houſe.

All Patients are conveyed to the Houſe, in a Carriage hung on Springs, and provided for that ſpecific Purpoſe, and no Patient admitted who ſhall be brought to the houſe in any other manner, Experience having proved that fatal Conſequences have often ariſen to the Health of the Inhabitants of the City of Dublin, from the usual Practice of conveying Persons, labouring under contagious Diseases, to Hospitals, in Hackney Coaches and Sedan Chairs.—Parliament voted 1000l. towards erecting the Building, and the Institution is now supported by Parliamentary Aid, with voluntary Subscriptions.
